BARQUET TO PROFESSOR LONGVELLOW—A grand hangest was given at the Langham Hotel on the 1th July to do honour to Professor Longfellow. Eighty noblemen and gendlement were present, including the Duke of Arcyll, I ford Hoteliton, Mr. Gladstone, Sir H. Robert Mr. Cardwell, Mr. Calefidge, Q.C., Mf. T. Haghes, Sir C. Landseer, and Mr. H. Browning: The occasion was of a thoroughly international character, and the attendance comprised some of the most distinguished has a men on both sales of the Atlantic, The health of the pact was proposed by Mr. Gladstone. Mr. Longfellow acknowledged the compliment with great brevity, begging the compliment with great brevity, begging the company to accept his hearty thanks for the general welcome which had been accorded to him. Mr. Longfellow has since left London for the Isle of Wight, on a visit to Mr. Tennyson. Subsequently be will proceed to Switzerland and Italy, and he is expected to return to London in May of next year.

A MESIGNIAL WINDOW—Wednesday, the 15th of July, was fixed for the ceremony of presenting the memorial window in the Cuidhall to the Corporation of London from the Languaghire cotton operatives, the result of a penny gubscription, to commemorate the fund raised in the City and other parts of the metropolis for their relief during the cotton familie. A Special Court of Common Council was con-

Special Court of Common Council was convenied for the occasion and the memorial window was farntally presented to them in the made of the Lancashire people by Colonel Wilson Patten, Lord Derby having been compelled to decline the office off account of the state of his health. The window, which is at the extern end of the Guidhall, is inscribed with the whole of the names of the members of the Mansion House Committee through whom the religificant, animating to apwards of £500,000, was raised and dispended, with the assistance of the local committee. A hand, some piece of plate, in the shape of a silver salver and tankard, with an inscription (a spontaneous wift of the operatives), was also presented to Mr. Gibbs, who acted as scerelary to the Mansion House Relief Committee.

result to a shall to the conclusion that in this expedition there has been an extraordinary absence of both mistakes and misfortunes. The fates have been favourable, but the nation has been well served. In Sir Robert Namer it has found a man who could use to the best relyuntage the great resources which were piaced at his disposal. It must be said that never did a commander undertake an expedition with more abundant affeation. The order was. Spare no expense, only succeed. All the resources of England and of India were employed to avert any such disaster as might arise from a campaign in a country reported to be dry, barren, sickly, and infested with wild breats. Using his carte blanche, Sir Robert Napier prepared his enterprise with that foresight and carefulness which leave at little as possible to chance. The military method of this expedition has been the most striking contrast to the bland confidence of the Crimean campaign. The general had chosen his men will, and they have done their duty incomparably. But not even these merits would have give such speedy success had not would have give such speedy success had not

could have wished him to do. PHILUSOPHY IN RELATION TO PIE JUICE.— The Little has now come for fruit pies, and, therefore, for pic jnice, and we intend to offer a sunggestion for "the better arrangement" of pas juice. Some people place an inverted cup in the pic, thinking this catches mice that would offerwise boil over, but that is a mistake; for though juice is found under the cup when the pie has cooled, yet it never entered the cup when the pie was in the oven; for this simple resear. the inside of the cup was a hot as the inside of the pie. The case of inverting a cap in the pie does more harm than good; for as the heat een oc- cooks the fruit it also expands the air in the cup, me on which tends to blow out the james from the dish. id com. But if a small hole, say a quarter of an inch. hich as be made in the bottom of the cup, which, of at his course, comes to the top the pic when inverted d other in the dish, the hot air will escape into the oven, hich he and leave room for the juice to run into the cup, which again will descend amondst the fruit on the pie cooling. "Now, how are we to make ition to this small hole in the bottom of the cup?"

roughly says the writer. "Take a six-inch flower pot.

ind, defended and the same of the caption and the mould as it will be of juice when in the piet then take a sharp-pointed instrument, like an old pair of seissors or a one-pronged fork, and begin to peck away liftle, and you will soon have a small bole, which can easily then he made bigg r before taking the cup from the flower pot. The sand or mould prevents the cup from the flower pot. The sand or mould prevents the cup from the cracking or heaking during the chipping process. When the cup is used invert it in the pie, but take care that the small hole is from the crack. Here is a very simple contrivance that will soon prove itself. A grand plan is to make three pies, one without any ap, one with a cup, and one with the cup with the hole in; then you can see the difference.—
